§3-130-2

§3-130-2 Definitions. As used in this chapter, unless a different meaning clearly appears in the context:

"Accountability" means the responsibility for maintaining continuous records, periodically reporting the location and condition, insuring proper usage, safekeeping, and maintenance of all property.

"Controlled items" includes property not classified as equipment, real property, or weapons, but having a useful life of more than a year and determined by the property custodian to be critical to their operations, or important for safekeeping and property management. "Excess property" means any property that has a remaining useful life but which is no longer required by the using agency in possession of the property.

"Expendable" means property consumed or which loses its identity in use.

"Equipment" includes all nonexpendable state property having a unit cost of two hundred fifty dollars or more, or other amounts that may be applicable to the counties' inventory, a useful life of more than one year, but excluding real property and weapons. Equipment shall be accounted for individually by make, model, serial number, and decal number.

"Nonexpendable" means property not consumed in use, retaining its original identity when used for the purpose for which it was designed.

"Property custodian" means the chief procurement officer, or the head of any state governmental unit that is not by law under the control of a chief procurement officer, or any person designated by that officer or head, who is responsible for the accountability of all state property in their possession, custody, control, or use.

longer has any use to the State.

"Tangible" means having a physical existence and capable of being appraised at an actual or approximate value.

"Weapons" mean handguns, rifles, shotguns, grenade launchers, and other explosive devices used for law enforcement or security purposes. These items shall be accounted for individually by make, model, serial number, and decal number, regardless of the cost or expected life of the item.
